Ecofriendly Ganesh

Demonstration of preparing eco-friendly Ganesh was organized in our college Campus on 7th sept 2018. Four students of V.G. Andani Fine Arts college conducted the demo class. Some of our students attended the class and prepared Ganesh statues on their own under Teacher's supervision. Statues of different sizes were made. Nearly 50 idols were prepared and sold by the students under "Earn While You Learn" practice. These idols were placed in pots filled with mud mixed with germinating seeds. The customers were told to pour water on Ganesha so that the idol melts in pot, giving rise to saplings of vegetables there by avoiding Ganesha visarjana into water. This creates pollution free environment.

Blood group test. & staff member attendees was organised by the Zoology department on 8/1/2020. A blood group of them in self is to be known as it is important, when they meet with accident immediate rescue is done by giving the blood without wasting much of time in testing. Hence, we organised it for staff members on 8/1/20 & 9/1/20. It was for the students. Blood testing is done by the final year student as they study it in the syllabus & do it practically.

It was already 6.30 pm, we were in Kalaburagi Railway station. We were very excited about the trip. Our journey was started from (6.45 pm) Kalaburagi to Bangalore, through Udayan Express and there our journey began with full of joy and energy.

We reached Yeshwanthpur station around 6.30 am. From there we reached 'Shikshaka-Bhanana' by bus.

DAY-1:

After getting ready in the rooms allotted for us, we moved to one of the famous hotels - ADIGAS for our breakfast.

Our escorts suggested us to taste Pongal, and it was really delicious.

Later we made our way to 'Lal-Bagh', which is known as 'Red Garden in English'.

It was originally built by 'Hyder Ali' in 1760. Lal-Bagh, a large area filled by a number of plants and area is 45 acres.

Nature lovers would definitely love the place. We saw a variety of plant species which were not found in our locality, and felt very glad that we could see such amazing plants with great benefits

In Lal-Bagh, we could see 'Bonsai plants' which were very interesting to see.

It also had a beautiful 'Glass-House' in it, where we rested for few minutes. The glass house is famous of flower exhibition which would be arranged twice in a year.

We spent more than half-a-day in Lal-Bagh, and around 2 pm, we made our way to 'Vidhan Soudha'.

Legislative assembly, which was built by 'Kengal Hanumanthayya' in 1951 on 13 July.

Through proper permission and checking, we were allowed to enter the confession hall. People responsible for that place explained us how ministers discuss, and who all would be present during the Lok-Sabha Assembly.

All were very much happy and curious to enter into the hall, where assembly runs. After seeking all the information of Vidhan-Soudha, we moved towards M.G. Road, through metro, had evening snacks and finally returned to Shikshaka-Bhavana, where we ~~were~~ ^{stayed} our stay that night. We finished our dinner in a hotel and returned to our rooms.

It was already 9'0 clock, we were in bus, on our way to IIHR (Indian - Institute of Horticulture Research).

It was really a posh area, measuring 263 hectares, established in the year 1970. It had 619 staff, 150 scientists, 218 - technical staff, and 92 Administrative staff. Here, the main focus was to improve the quality of fruits and vegetables and also increase their life-span.

IIHR maintains good quality buds and seeds which are sold to the farmers.

To study on different types of hybrid plants which are cultivated in short period of time for the welfare of humankind.

We also saw an electron microscope with magnification of 10,000,000 x. It costed about 7 lakhs - 9 lakhs.

We also saw how mushrooms were cultivated.

They were kind enough to show the demonstration of mushroom cultivation.

We also saw that the proper use of food and fruits i.e., osmotically dried fruits by which they will remove the water from fruit and make them dry, and are used as a candy-sweet by which we could maintain or store fruits for longer period.

It was about 7'o'clock when we reached a famous Radha - Krishna Temple i.e., Iscon temple. We recieved the blessings of God and made our way to Orian - Mall, for which all girls were waiting since morning.

Orian mall, one of the 4th biggest malls of India, and the largest mall in B'lore.

And then, we enjoyed the shopping in Orian mall, and returned to the place we stayed i.e., Shikshakara Bhavana, around 10 pm. We all were very tired, so as soon we reached our rooms, we jumped into our beds, as we had to leave early tomorrow morning.

On the way to Gottam Gotta there is an open forest, there we could see some dry deciduous plants like Beutea monosperma, Lantana camara, Zizupus, Eucalyptus, Balanitis species etc. we reached Gottatum Gotta reserved forest at about 1:00 pm, there we had dharshan of Lord Gangadhareshwara and enjoyed back water of charampalli reservoir..Its one of the Reserved forests of Chincholi taluk. There is herbal garden with various medicinal plants like Adhatoda vasaka, Saraca indica, Beautea monosperma, Plumeria rubra, Ficus krishnae, Aegle marmecouls, lemon grass, etc. We have collected some of the plant species for Botany Departament. Field Trip Report for the Year 2017-18

During the year 2017-18 the department arranged, One day study trip for all Botany students towards Konchavaram forest, Chincholi. As per our request, HKE'S Management arranged a mini bus for one day Botanical tour. As per the program, we left Gulbarga with 30 students and reached Konchavarum forest by 11 am. There we could see a number of plants. Open forest is famous for its vegetation, more than 400 medicinal plants are there and species like Madhuka, Sandal, red stands, teak, etc. Thus chincholi taluk Konchavarum forest is a Wild life sanctuary, containing different types of birds, trees, medicinal plants, waterfalls, etc. This attracts the tourist towards it and it gives good health and mental happiness to the visitors. Thus Chandrampalli Dam, Yetti pota falls, Gottam Gotti and chincholi wild life sanctuary attracts tourist for their natural beauty and scenes. In the water we observed some aquatic plants like Chara, Nostoc, Blue green algae, Azolla, Diatoms, Typha etc. and we had lunch at afternoon and returned to Gulbarga as per the schedule time.

Introduction

Sericulture is an applied science of rearing silkworms. It is based on the anatomy and physiology of silkworms. Sericulture aims at two different purposes.

a) Egg production and

b) Silk production

The former aims at producing high quality disease free silkworm eggs or disease free layings (DFL) or seeds. The latter is concerned with cocoon production from which raw silk is unwound for reeling and marketing for maximum economic benefit. Sericulture is a highly specialized, organized and competitive agro based industry in silk producing countries and the silk worms are reared from egg to cocoon. The silk is commonly called as Queen of Textiles. Karnataka is the biggest centre for the production of raw silk.

Moriculture

Cultivation of mulberry and its importance :-

The mulberry tree is a perennial woody plant that can grow from MSL to 1500m above MSL. It also grows on a variety of soils. Its propagation is moriculture, and it is done by two methods. Sexual propagation is by planting the seeds in soil under suitable conditions. This method takes shorter time & the roots grow vigorously. Asexual propagation is by planting stem cuttings.

- (a) Stem-cuttings are obtained from 6-8 month old branches. The cut ends must be sharp without tearing off the bark.
- (b) In the row system, practiced in Kolar District, under irrigated conditions, soil ridges are prepared about 60 cm apart. Cuttings are planted on the ridges at a spacing of 35cm.
- (c) In the pit system, pits of 35 x 35 x 35 cm are made with a spacing of 1 x 1 m, & cuttings are planted in pits. This system is superior as the mulberry is a perennial tree & its roots grow deep into the soil. The plant also receives better light.

in quality & more in numbers. The quantity of cocoon produced by silk worms fed in such ^{leaves} is also better. Hence the pit system is always preferred.

- ④ There should be periodic application of biofertilizers in the form of groundnut cake and neem cake & also nitrogen, phosphorous & potassium (NPK 300:120:120)
- ⑤ Periodic pruning [Removal of undesirable branches] is done to maintain the plants in a state of vigorous growth & for obtaining good leaf yield. Pruning should be carried out only if the plants attain heights of 2m, and a stem and branches circumference of 3cm at the base.
- ⑥ Leaf harvesting is done when the leaves are of the correct stage of maturity, & it can be done only 8 months after planting. The average yield will be 7-8 tones / hectare / year. It is possible to harvest leaves 5-6 times in year.
- ⑦ Harvesting is done either in the morning or in the evening [cooler part of the day] and the leaves are stored in containers of 1.5m x 3.0m x 0.8m size covered with we gunny cloth.

Life Cycle of the Mulberry Silkmoth Cycle.

→ Adult Silkmoth :-

Bombyx mori, the mulberry silk moth, is a creamy white moth with a 3-4 cm broad wings spread. Its body is fat and the two pairs of wings are weak. It is sexually dimorphic i.e., the sexes are separate both sexes bear feather like antennae on their heads and a pair of compound eyes. It does not fly and lives only for 4-5 days. During which the male & female mate.

Adult male silk moth is smaller in size while the female is comparatively larger in size. Male has a narrow and long abdomen and female has a short and broad abdomen. Male bears larger and feathery but smaller antennae. Males are darker in colour and females are comparatively lighter in colour. Male have a short life span, they die soon after copulation while the females lives longer in order to lay eggs.

→ Eggs :-

The female lays 300-500 eggs. The eggs are hemispherical and yellowish white, & each weighs about 1mg. The eggs are laid in a cluster on mulberry leaves, attached to them by mucus secretion.

→ Larva or Caterpillar :-

The larva that hatches from the egg is called the caterpillar. It hatches out about 10 days after laying. The newly hatched caterpillar is about 60mm in length and weight about 0.45mg. It exhibits a characteristic looping movement. The larva undergoes moulting. The moulting is called ecdysis or exuviation. The process occurs four times during the life of the moth. Each moult is called an instar and each instar is bigger than the previous one, the fifth being the largest. The larval life is spent on feeding and lasts for 25 to 30 days.

The mature of fifth stage larva measures 6.5 to 8 cm in length and weight about 5.0 to 6.0g. It has a head followed by 13 segments, three of the thorax and 10 of the abdomen. The head bears simple eye on each side and strong jaws that differ from those of the adult. The head also bears a pair of spinnerettes, projecting from its lower lip. They are internally connected to larval salivary glands or sericteries located in the head. The glands secrete a viscous fluid that hardens into silk threads.

The thorax has three segments bears a pair of 5 jointed legs. These develop later into the legs of the adult.

is in its 3rd, 4th, 5th, 6th and the last bears a pair of fleshy prolegs each. They are not true legs and are absent in the adult. The last pair is called anal prolegs or anal suckers. The 5th segment bears on its dorsal side a single dorsal horn. At the sides of the body are openings called spiracles that lead into the respiratory organs.

The 5th stage larva feeds more than the others, and this is the sign of ensuing non feeding stage in its cycle, namely the pupa or chrysalis.

→ Pupa - OR - Chrysalis :

The pupa is the silk stage in which it envelopes itself by a cocoon of silk making use of the secretion of the secretaries. The cocoon is spun by wrapping the silk fibres around the caterpillar body. The caterpillar like the fig. 8. in a matter of 3-5 days the spinning larva is completely enveloped by its own silk cocoon. Within the cocoon the larva undergoes histolysis (degradation of larval tissues) and histogenesis (formation of new tissues) to produce the adult moth's body. The adult emerges out in 10-12 days, by softening the silk of the cocoon.

once the adults emerge, the male and female mate. male dies soon after mating and female dies after laying eggs [4-5 days]

Silkworm Rearing

- ① The ideal temperature & humidity for rearing silkworm is $24-27^{\circ}\text{C}$ and 70-90% respectively. If such conditions are not available, they may have to be created artificially for the proper growth of caterpillars.
- ② The rearing house should be well ventilated. The ceiling should be quite high. care should be taken to disinfect all appliance with 1% commercial formaldehyde.
- ③ The silk worm eggs are spread in bamboo mats to avoid excrete a of waste falling into tray below, polythene sheets or nylon nets may be used in separating one tray from another.
- ④ As soon as the larvae hatch they start feeding on mulberry leaves. Hence tender leaves chopped to the size of about 1.5 to 2 cm must be kept ready. The feeding may be done 5 times a day.

The first moult occurs in 3 to 3½ days, and the next occurs within about the next 20 hours. The size of the caterpillars also increases. After 3 to 3½ days they enter the third stage. They may require slightly lower humidity but still require tender leaves as feed.

(c) The first three stages of the larvae chawki since they are delicate, they are often transferred from one tray to another by feathers by a method called brushing. The rearing of chawki worms is called chawki rearing. The next two stages constitute 'adult' silkworms and their rearing is called 'adult rearing'. The rearing is done in separate houses as the two types require slightly different temperature and moisture.

(7) Bamboo mats and straw trays with raised edges are made ready. In chawki rearing, special wooden boxes are used. All these are disinfected before use. The trays are arranged in 2-5 tiers supported on bamboo poles fixed to the ground.

(8) After 3 to 4 days, the caterpillars will settle for moulting and enter the fourth stage, with a corresponding increase in size. It is necessary to ~~clean~~ ^{change} the trays and disinfect them.

(9) During the fourth stage they require the maximum feed and the feeding has to be done 4-5 times a day

(10) The caterpillars reach the fifth stage 4 to 4 1/2 days later. The fourth moult is the last. The fifth stage lasts for 6 to 7 days. The caterpillars of this stage possess translucent bodies and raises their heads actively. This is also a critical stage in development which requires maximum care.

(11) The head raising behaviour of caterpillars is familiar to all semi culturists. The caterpillars do not feed they have now to be transferred to fresh mats of a special type called chamdrika or spin trays or mountages. Each chamdrika can accommodate caterpillars weighing a total of 1 to 2.5 kg. The mounting of the larvae in chamdrika will have to be carried out quickly in a matter of 2 to 2 1/2 days.

(12) The mounted larvae will start spinning cocoons and will pupate the very next day.

maximizing times) Raising of cocoons and Silk Reeling

- ① silkworms take 3 to 5 days to complete spinning of cocoon produced by unit number of [10,000 larvae] is called cocoon yieldingness. The commercial F₁ hybrids have a high cocoon yield of 20.5 to 21.5 kg.
- ② The shape, size, colour and weight of the cocoons are some of the characteristics that a sericulturist takes into consideration.
- ③ The harvesting of cocoons is the final stage of the process of silkworms rearing and is to be carefully carried out. The dead and decayed cocoons should be separated to avoid staining the goods ones.
- ④ The pupae are silk killed 2 or 3 days before the emergence of the moths by exposing them to sun or by passing steam or hot air over them or by fumigation with chemicals this process is called stifling. It is a pre reeling process. The stifled cocoons are dried and the outer loose rough cover or flow is brushed away. In order to soften the glue like substance that binds the silk thread the pupae are soaked in warm water.

Reeling is a process of collection of silk from the cocoons. The silk is reeled by putting ~~it~~ ^{it} to a pupae in a spool of the reeling machine by using a country charaka or ~~power~~ ^{power} ~~driven~~ ^{driven} ~~reeling~~ ^{reeling} ~~machine~~ ^{machine}.

filatures and is made into a single thread of silk. Raw silk is processed further by treatment with acids and washed to produce the lustrous silk. It is estimated that about 10 to 11 kg of pupae are required to produce 1 kg of silk yarn.

→ Varieties of Silk

Two major varieties of silk identified are the mulberry silk and non mulberry silk. The non mulberry silk includes the muga silk, tasar silk and the eri silk. India is the only country producing all the four varieties of silk.

- (a) Mulberry Silk :- Mulberry silk is superior in quality to any other textile fibre. No artificial fibre has yet been able to replace it. It is produced in about 35 countries in the world.
- (b) Non-mulberry silk.
- (1) Muga Silk :- Muga silk is produced only in India, often called golden muga silk. It is a valuable item in the traditional Assamese culture and rural economy of Assam.
- (2) Eri Silk \Rightarrow Eri silk is produced mostly in India at present, has now been introduced in other countries like Taiwan, Madagascar and Egypt.

Tasar Silk : - Tasar silk occupies the third place after mulberry and silk. China is the biggest tasar silk producing country followed by India. A small quantity of tasar silk produced in Japan and Korea.

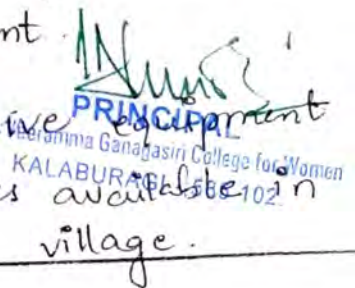

→ Economic Importance

Sericulture as an agro based industry.

Sericulture is a labour intensive agro industry in under developed and developing countries which have an agriculture base. It can provide employment not only to the agricultural poor but also to the landless labourers.

1. Sericulture technology is simple and can be followed by even illiterate farmers.
2. It is within the reach of small & marginal farmers.
3. All the sericulture activities are village based. It can prevent migration of labourers from rural to urban areas in search of employment.
4. Sericulture does not require expensive equipment and can depend on simple appliances available in village.

5 It involves low investment. once a mulberry plantation is established, it will continue to serve for 15 years with a minimum investment.

6 Since silk can be exported it is a source of foreign exchange. India is earning about rupees 750 crores/year from export of silk and silk garments. Thus improving the economy of the country.

→ Uses of Silk and Silk Industry

Byproducts:

The silk and the products of its industry can be used for many purposes.

1. The silk filaments are light and soft. They are well known for their water absorbency, dyeing properties and lustre. It is a raw material for producing silk fabrics.

2. Its temperature tolerance (thermotolerance) and insulation properties have been taken advantage in the manufacture of parachutes, tyre lining and as electrical insulation material.

10. silk is also used in the manufacture of surgical suture and artificial blood vessels

- (4) silkworm pupae are a good source of oil used in the manufacture of soaps and plasticizers.
- (5) Pupae are used in the extraction of hydrolyzed protein amino acids and vitamin B₂.
- (6) Faces of silkworms is a source of an important raw material called phytol used in the manufacture of vitamin E & KF extraction of chlorophyll.
- (7) silkworm faces is rich in protein & is a good feed for fishes, pigs, cattle and sheep. It is also, a good organic manure.
- (8) mulberry stems can be used as firewood, branches can be used in the manufacture of paper and cricket bats.

Conclusion

To study the commercial rearing of silkworm to produce their end products much in the form of silk is a step towards complete biological information. This has been made use of by man to develop it into a big industry spread in a number of countries and it had its beginnings in the royal households.

Sericulture now is a well organised agro based industry producing the glamorous silk fabrics in many parts of the world, specially it is a major occupation in Karnataka.

Visit To Nandini Dairy [KMF]

Aim \Rightarrow To observe the processing of milk manufactures of milk product.

Visit \Rightarrow We have visited the nandini dairy which is located near T.V station near Gomj Area Gulbarga.

Procedure \Rightarrow

① collection of Milk \Rightarrow The milk is collected from the different village of Bijapur district and near by other district by checking the fat level and adulteration as in milk come. If the distance is less then needed to distill that at 4°C .

② Transportation \Rightarrow Normally during transporting the milk is kept at 4°C upto reaching the producing place chilling if required to bring milk from different village.

The milk fat % is more in buffaloes milk.

After reaching the production center, the transferred milk is removed from the comes and stored in containers called RMST then the milk is subjected for SNF test.

SNF (solid not fat) :-

In this test soda, water, sugar etc. the adulterants are checked and removed from the raw milk and then adulterant free milk is collected in the special type of big tankers called RMST. [Raw milk storage tankers]. The tank has capacity to store 20,000 litre of milk.

Then further there are 3 varieties of milk

- 1) Shubham : which contain 4.5% Fat, 8.5% SNF
- 2) Toned milk : It contains 3% Fat & 8.5 SNF
- 3) Summadhi : FCM (Fat cream milk) 6%, 6% Fat 9% SNF and it is a pink colour packet, buffalo milk.

The other products of milk are curd, butter, ghee, khava. The skimmed milk, is used to make skimmed milk powder. Good Life milk is used for 3 months and can be stored at room temperature. For 6 layered packed milk (UTM) is given which can also stored in room temperature. In toned milk 3% fat should be maintained hence excess fat is used for ghee making.

Pasteurization \Rightarrow

Pasteurization refers to the process of heating the milk to atleast 63°C (145°F) for 30 min or 72°C (161°F) for 15 seconds causing minimum changes in the composition flavour and nutritive value of the milk after pasteurization the milk is immediately cooled to 5°C (41°F) or below.

Purpose \Rightarrow

- 1] To render milk safe for human consumption by destruction of some percent of pathogen micro-organisms.
- 2] To improve the keeping quality of milk by destruction of almost all spoilage organisms [85-90%]

Objections \Rightarrow

- 1] It diminishes significantly the nutritive value of milk.
- 2] It reduces the creamline or cream value.
- 3] Pasteurization milk will not work with rennet.
- 4] It fails to destroy bacterial toxins in milk.

Formation of Standards for Pasteurization

① Bacterial destruction.

Mycobacterium tuberculosis considered as the most heat resistance among pathogens. Hence it is chosen as the index for pasteurization. Any treatment which kills this bacterium also destroys all other pathogens.

② Creamline Reduction :

The cream volume is reduced progressively with increase in the temperature time of heating. The consumer judges the quality of milk on the basis of the creamline.

③ Phosphate Inactivation :

The phosphate should not be destroyed by pasteurization. Hence pasteurized milk should show negative phosphate test.

Methods of Pasteurization

1) Bottle Pasteurization

Bottle filled with raw milk & tightly sealed with special caps are heated at $63-66^{\circ}\text{C}$ [$145-150^{\circ}\text{F}$] for 30 min. Then bottle pass through water sprays of decreasing temperature which cool both products and bottle.

② Low temperature long time (LTL)

Pasteurization in LTL at low temperature for long time. The milk is heated to 63°C / 145°F for 30 minutes and promptly cooled to 5°C or below. In this method, heating is done indirectly, the heat move through a metal wall into the product for heating and out of the product for cooling. The pasteurizer may be of 3 types.

① Water Jacketed vat :-

This is double walled around the sides and bottom in which hot water or steam under partial vacuum circulates for heating and cold water for cooling. The outer wall is usually insulated to reduce heat loss. The heat exchange takes place through the wall of the inner lining.

② Water up ray type :-

A film of water is sprayed from a perforated pipe over the surface of the tank holding the product. The product is agitated as above. A rapidly moving continuous film of water provides rapid heat transfer.

Smt. Veeramma Ganagasiri College for Women
KALABURAGI - 585 102.

PRINCIPAL

Smt. Veeramma Ganagasiri College for Women
KALABURAGI - 585 102.

② Coil vat type :-

The heating / cooling medium is pumped through a coil placed in either a horizontal or vertical position, which the coil is turned through the product. The turning coil agitates the product.

③ High temperature short time [HTST] :-

Pasteurization in HTST the milk is heated at a high temperature for a short time.

The HTST pasteurizer gives a continuous flow of milk which is heated to 72°C [161°F] for 15 sec. and promptly cooled to 5°C to below it.

It is modern method of pasteurizing milk and is invariably used where large volumes of milk are handled.

Milk Flow :- The following steps or stages are involved as milk passes through HTST pasteurization system.

→ Balance tank → Pump → Refrigerative heating
→ holding → cooling by chill water.

Vacuum Pasteurization [vaccination].

This refers to pasteurization of milk / cream under reduced by direct steam. It was designed to remove feed and other volatile flavours from cream and to pasteurize it for butter making.

Sub : Letter of Appreciation

In the fast paced world of today, Calligraphy has got a prominent role to play, as people have more exposed to the use of computers and mobile phones and other electronic media for writing and communication. But in conduct of 'Calligraphy' workshop by you, has made many of us and students to realize, how important is the role of calligraphy and its utility. In most of the spheres of life, the handwritten text is more valid and authentic than the printed text material.

We deeply appreciate your wonderful conduct of this online workshop to our students.

Madam,

It gives me immense pleasure to invite you to our college, to conduct an online workshop on 'Calligraphy'. Your expertise will enhance the writing skills of the students and improve their handwriting which is of great importance in modern digital era, as students are tending to forget the art of writing.

I hope that you will accept our invitation and be a part of this academic activity.

Thanking you,

Webinar On "FUTURE SKILLS"

Report

A Webinar was organized by the Department of Commerce & Management on Future Skills. It was conducted on Online Platform - ZOOM App with the following link: Webinar Link: Join Zoom Meeting

<https://us02web.zoom.us/j/87191723302?pwd=ejZROXg5RENWSXE0RUJyR3JJRTBTdz09>

Meeting ID: 871 9172 3302. Passcode: 287829.

All Students registered for the Webinar and participated actively.

Future Skills are competences that allow individuals to solve complex problems in highly emergent contexts of action in a selforganised way and enable them to act (successfully).

In Future: it's highly likely you'll be working in a job that doesn't even exist yet. The world of work is evolving quickly, which means you have to figure out how to prepare for a future job role that's impossible to predict. The year 2020 - Covid-19 has taught us many lessons. Of course, there isn't a crystal ball that can tell us exactly what skills will be needed and what won't be needed. But, we can sum up with few skills :

Cognitive flexibility

The rise of digital technologies means you're going to need to be able to handle the plethora of opportunities and challenges that come with it.

Digital literacy and computational thinking

As the world continues to rely on highly technical and continuously evolving technologies, the need for those with the digital skills to match also increases. We have heard about STEM, SMAC (social, mobile, analytics and cloud), being digitally literate offers capabilities beyond what was once thought possible when it comes to emerging technologies, such as artificial intelligence (AI), machine learning, Internet of Things (IoT), and data science.

Judgement and decision-making

Although robots and automation technology may be better than humans in other ways such as calculations and diagnostic solving, it's still going to be humans that deal with the subjective side of data analytics.

Considering we're on the cusp of the fourth industrial revolution, we're still going to need to have somebody who is able to show the world what numbers mean and their significance.

Emotional and social intelligence

PRINCIPAL

For everything that can be replaced by digital technologies and artificial intelligence, emotional and social intelligence remain uniquely human capabilities.

Creative and innovative mindset

Despite a report by the World Economic Forum in 2018 suggesting robot automation will create more jobs than they displace, you'll still do well to keep on top of your creativity skills and maintain an innovative mindset.

Much like having an excellent sense of social intelligence, natural creativity is something which can't be easily replicated by the latest digital technologies. As long as you can think outside the box, you'll be just fine.

Considering the above factors this webinar was organized to help our students understand the future skills required. Mr. Arvind Muchakhandi, Manager - Delivery, Cognizant Angel Investor, a social worker and an IT Engineer by profession was the resource person for the webinar. He explained in detail with presentation along with videos. It was followed by discussion session, where students actively participated.

Etiquette is a set of customs and rules for polite behavior, especially among a particular class of people or in a particular profession.

Etiquette is about kindness, it is about being friendly, it is about being polite, it is about integrity, it is about good manners.

Etiquette helps us know how to treat others.

Etiquette helps us to know how to behave and conduct ourselves in different environments.

Etiquette is not about being perfect, or being prim and proper, it's not about your social class, profession or how rich or well educated you are.

Etiquette makes people comfortable and at ease, it shows that we value and respect others.

- Etiquette promotes kindness, consideration, and humility.
- Etiquette gives the confidence to deal with different situations in life, it gives us life skills.
- Etiquette enhances your individual image; it eliminates discourteous behaviour.

Etiquette helps us to be thoughtful about our conduct, it helps us to be aware of the feelings and rights of others.

Etiquette helps us to get along with others, it promotes respect.

Etiquette promotes respect for people of other cultures, etiquette is culturally bound.

Having good manners is not just about saying 'please' and 'thank you'. It is about how you present yourself, how you behave, how you speak, how you treat others, how you think.

Cancer is a cluster of abnormal cells. Depending on the types of cells in a tumor, it can be Benign (the tumor doesn't contain cancerous cells) Pre-malignant or Pre-cancerous (it contains abnormal cells that have potential to become cancerous), or Malignant (the tumor contains cancerous cells).

Tobacco is found to be responsible for most of the cancers.

Some of the cancer signs are, change in bowel or bladder habits, a sore that does not heal, unusual bleeding or discharge, thickening or lump on the breast or elsewhere and also anyone can perform self examination to check. Obvious change in skin or mole.

The speaker made us understand and explained about many different type of cancer like skin cancer, stomach cancer, breast cancer, and many and said its severeness if not treated. Hence, one should see a doctor or specialist for screening after immediately observing of any symptoms in their body.

Kalaburagi is an educational hub, we proudly say that we have 4 universities, with numerous courses. It has all the modes of connectivity , road, rail & air to all the major cities. It's also very rich in solar resources.

But, the graduates produced by us are not in a position to readily assume their due role, in the industrial development of Kalyana Karnataka region, due to a wide gap between the theory which is designed in their curriculum and the practical aspects.

Hence, the main purpose of this webinar is to gain the knowledge of how to bridge a gap between the theoretical concepts of entrepreneurship towards the practical execution in reality. Through this platform, we the people of Kalyana Karnataka aim at sanitizing our younger generation , girl students, women entrepreneurs, to overcome the obstacles in their endeavour and step towards an Atma nirbhar, a self reliant women.
