Report

Department of Clinical Nutrition and Dietetics organizes Canteen day ever year to make the students to learn the techniques of bulk cooking and they will also experience the food service operations.

Food service planning is also a part of Dietician job , in which students learn how to run the food service organizations in order to generate profit. Students also learn how do the pricing for menu by this activity. Canteen day involves lot of planning for various activities , initially we divide each activity into tasks . Various groups are formed to conduct various activities . All the students of BSc III rd semester were involved in this activity as they have paper on quality food production on which they learn about various food service outlets .

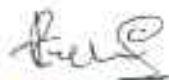

Activities like order taking , marketing , cooking , accounting and service were distributed among students and 4-6 students in the group.

Menu for the canteen day was decided by taking students opinion, we blend the some ingredients and give new look and flavor to recipe .these recipes are tried and tested recipes by Smt Rekha before making the decision .

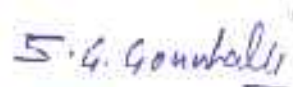

For the academic year 2020-2021 we conducted canteen day on 10.3.2021 , department was well decorated to give the look of service area or dining area.

Smt Bhuvneshwari , Dietitian from HKES Basaveshwar Hospital was the guest to inaugurate the event and our principal Dr RB Konda , vice principal Dr Veena H , NAAC coordinator Dr Farzana , HoD of the department smt Vishaka V and programs coordinator smt Rekha DT were present on the occasion.

The canteen day activity started at 11.00am to 3.00pm and all the staff of the college and students were our customers of the day. Everybody enjoyed the food and feed back from the customer was collected.
