The first session started at 10.30 Am, chief guest and the resource person of this session was Dr. Renuka Gubbewad, Assistant Professor S.S.L Law College, Kalaburagi. The session was chaired by Dr. Sharada Beknal, Madam spoke on Patents and Geographical Indications. Patent is a form of intellectual property. A patent gives its owner the right to exclude others from making, using, selling, and importing an invention for a limited period of time, usually twenty years. The patent rights are granted in exchange for an enabling public disclosure of the invention. In most countries patent rights fall under civil law and the patent holder needs to sue someone infringing the patent in order to enforce his or her rights. In some industries patents are an essential form of competitive advantage; in others they are irrelevant.

Madam also stressed on rights relating to Intellectual property:

- a) Literary, artistic and scientific works.
- b) Performance of performing artists, phonograms and broadcasts.
- c) Inventions in all fields of human endeavour.
- d) Scientific discoveries.
- e) Industrial designs.
- f) Trade marks, service marks and commercial names and designations

Madam also gave information on the topic Geographical Indications. She said that indications are those which identify goods originating in the territory of a member or a region or locality in the territory, where a given quality, reputation or other characteristic of the goods is essentially attributable to its geographical Origin [Art 22 (1)].

In respect of geographical indications, WTO Members shall provide the legal means for interested parties to prevent.

- The use of any means in the designation or presentation of a goods that indicates or suggests that the good in question originates in a geographical area other than the true place of origin in a manner which misleads the public as to the geographical origin of goods.
- Any use which constitutes an Act or unfair competition within the meaning of Art 10 bits of the pairs convention, 1967 [Art 22 (2)].

The topic of second session was "Trade marks and Industrial Design" the session was chaired by Prof. Shakuntala Associate Professor, Department of English Smt. V. G. Degree College for Women, Kalaburagi, and Prof. Shanteshwari S. Shantgiri was resource person Assistant Professor, S.S.L Law College, Kalaburagi. Madam gave clear idea about the trade mark. A Trade Mark is a visual symbol in the form of a word, a device, or a label applied to articles of commerce with a view to indicate to the purchasing public that they are the goods manufactured or otherwise dealt in by a particular person as distinguished from similar goods manufactured or dealt in by other persons.

A person who sells his goods under a particular Trade Mark acquires a sort of limited exclusive right to use of the mark in relation to those goods. Such a right acquired by use is recognised as a form of property in the Trade Mark. A person can also acquire a similar right over a trade mark not so far used but only proposed to be used, by registering it under Trade Mark Act, 1999

She also discussed on Child Labour: The employment of children in any industry or business especially when illegal is considered exploitative. Child labour refers to the employment of children in any work that deprives children of their childhood, interferes with their ability to attend regular school, and that is mentally, physically, socially or morally dangerous and harmful. This practice is considered exploitative by many international organizations. Not all organizations. Not all work done by children should be classified as child labour that is to be targeted for elimination. The term "Child labour" is often defined as work that deprives children of their childhood, their potential and their dignity, and that is harmful to physical and mental development.

The topic of third session was Copy Right and the resource person was Prof. Aparna Malley Assistant Professor, Sidharath Law College, Kalaburagi, and session was chaired by Dr. Gouradevi Katnalli, Assistant Professor, Department of Economics, Smt. V. G. Degree College for Women, Kalaburagi. Madam has spoke on Copyright. It is a legal right, existing in many countries, that grants the creator of an original work exclusive rights to determine whether, and under what conditions, this original work may be used by others. This is usually only for a limited time. Copyright is one among the two types of intellectual property rights and the other is industrial property rights. The exclusive rights are not absolute but limited by limitations and exceptions to copyright law, including fair use. A major limitation on copyright on ideas is that copyright protects only the original expression of ideas, and not the underlying ideas themselves.

Madam also gave information on copyright licenses can also be granted by those deputized by the original claimant, and private companies may request this as a condition of doing business with them. Services of internet platform providers like YouTube, Facebook, GitHub, Hotmail, DropBox, Instagram, WhatsApp or Twitter only can be used when users grant the platform provider beforehand the right to co-use all uploaded content, including all material exchanged per email, chat or cloud-storage. These copyrights only apply for the firm that operates such a platform, no matter in what jurisdiction the platform-services are being offered. Private companies in general do not recognize exceptions or give users more rights than the right to use the platform according certain.

Lastly the technical session ended with valedictory function at 4 pm. Chief Guest of the valedictory function was Prof. Shanteshwari S. Shantgiri and madam addressed the gathering. Certificates were distributed to all the participants, Dr. Eshwarayya Math Principal Presided the function and gave presidential remarks and Miss Chandrakala Pujari proposed the vote of thanks.
